

Cascade Clamp

Cascade Clamps - Established in Portland, Oregon in 1943, the Cascade Manufacturing Company started as a small machine shop hiring just 4 people. Total sales for that initial year amounted to about $60,000. The first recorded sales revenues involved the assembly and machining of stainless steel valves, pipe fittings and other parts. Within five years of operation, the company had expanded to 40 workers and their yearly sales volume had risen to 330 thousand dollars. At present, Cascade is among the top global makers in the material handling trade.

Production and design of the company's initial hydraulic cylinder paved the way in Cascade's aggressive pursuit of new business opportunities. Over the last sixty years, the material handling business has grown into a highly sophisticated field and Cascade has proudly performed a part on this development. Cascade presently continues to grow as the leader provider of forklift attachments and numerous associated products. The company feels confident in their capability so as to continue to lead the way in the business by understanding client's requirements in the future and remaining aggressive within the world market.

During the nineteen fifties, Cascade started to make, design, and sell its hydraulic accessories. A new facility was built in 1956, to be able to accommodate all the plant operations and offices in Portland, Oregon, which is still the company's current head office. Subsequent to fifteen years of business, total employees reached 180 staff and sales had reached nearly 2.3 million dollars.

The next manufacturing plant was built in the year 1959 in Springfield, Ohio. 1960 marked Cascade's preliminary move into the international world of the material handling industry when the business established interest in the Netherlands, England, and Australia.

In 1964, the company changed its name to the Cascade Corporation. After that in 1965, the business went public with a preliminary offering of two hundred thousand shares of common stock. Ever since then the company has expanded its manufacturing facilities throughout the continental US to the places Warner Robins Georgia to go along with its already present plants in Springfield, Ohio and Portland, Oregon. Cascade merchandise are made worldwide because of lots of subsidiary operations. In 1994, a brand new plant was completed in Almere, the Netherlands which is Cascade's European command center. This facility is designed to be the essential customer support centre.

Continuing to develop, Cascade expanded their product offering further in 1996 and the year 1997 with the impressive acquisition of 5 companies, along with the global leader in forks, the Kenhar Corporation.
